Lunations and Long-Term Aspects

This month's New Moon on the 15th is in fellow Water Sign Pisces, your 9th House of beliefs, expectations, higher learning, relocation and legal matters. If your birthday is within a few days of July 18th, this will have a stronger effect which will be of a positive nature. This lunation comes with quite an entourage accompanying the Sun and Moon which comprise Mercury, Uranus and Jupiter. Mercury and Uranus are conjunct each other and also the Sun/Moon, providing a significant amount of punch that suggest unexpected news or events of a significant nature are coming your way. Jupiter isn't in a direct aspect, but still in Pisces, lending his expansive nature to the entire affair.

One thing to watch out for is Saturn, ruler of your polar sign, Capricorn, who's opposing the New Moon quartet. Saturn is in Libra, your 4th House of home environment, implying that something there will be putting up some resistance to whatever is going on in that 9th House. Saturn is retrograde and will be for a few more months, which typically institutes delays due to the need for restructuring. This could be of the literal variety, such as remodeling your home, or it could be of a more figurative nature and involve family members and how you relate to them. There is also the possibility that it is simply your responsibilities there that are under review or may be presenting an obstacle. Pluto in Capricorn, your 7th House of relationships, is working on resolving a few issues in that area as well, which will help things along toward resolution, though it may not seem that way at first.

On the positive side, Mars has come out of retrograde, releasing his energy for use in your 2nd House of possession, finances, pleasures and needs. This will assist with those home issues and give you the forward momentum you need to embrace the needed change or opportunity that may have appeared in such a sudden and even disruptive manner.

The Full Moon on March 29 is in Libra, your 4th House of home environment as previously noted. A Full Moon brings a culmination or sometimes simply a shift to a new phase. This is very likely to further support whatever the New Moon brought your way. By this time only Jupiter and Uranus remain in Pisces with the Sun, Mercury and Venus in Aries, your 10th House of career, reputation, status and public image. As a side note, those of your born around July 10th or 11th should be watching for something changing in your life anyway, as the Lunar Nodes sweep past your Natal Sun and beckon something your way with regard to a new relationship. Remember that relationships in the astrological context include you significant other, close friends and relatives, business partners, and any professional you interact with such as doctors, lawyers, accountants, financial advisors, and also any competitors or open enemies. There's an opportunity that looks as if it could relate to either love or money and have a transformational effect on you, so watch for that as well.

Daily and Short-term Aspects

March 1: If there is something you want to achieve, a course change is required, either with your beliefs or finances. You may perceive it as a Catch-22 but there is a solution. Mercury goes into fellow Water Sign Pisces today, increasing the ideas and communication needed.

March 2: This change of course if going to affect your home life as well. Restructuring and unloading old baggage is already in progress, but giving it some additional consideration can facilitate the process.

March 3: Watch for something unexpected today. It could be no more than a sudden insight but it has the potential to have a significant impact on where you're going.

March 4: If you have any relationships that aren't exactly what they should be, give them some thought today. Consider your beliefs and expectations and how they are affecting the situation.

March 7: Venus goes into Aries today, bringing her blessings to your 10th House of career, reputation, status and public image. If there is something you want to promote, including yourself, this is an excellent time to do so, especially if you have a goal in mind of a financial nature, though other pleasantries could be affected as well. It's particularly favorable for interactions with the opposite sex. Expansive ideas as they relate to your beliefs or other 9th House issues such as higher education, relocation or cultural matters, are highly likely.

March 9: Looking good in public may cause some conflict at home. Deal with it the best you can.

March 11: Is there anyone in your life who is holding you back or causing you more trouble than they're worth? How are you enabling this person? Moving forward with your career is possible, provided you can let go of any old, outdated perceptions that may be affecting you.

March 14: Look for something today that is impossible to miss unless you have your head entirely in the sand or some other dark place. Don't be afraid to think outside the box or change your beliefs.

March 15: New Moon today as described above.

March 17: Expect more surprises today, perhaps simply in a major change to your beliefs though it could also relate to various other 9th House issues such as higher education, relocation and so forth. Mercury enters Aries which will facilitate communications and information pertaining to your career, status and public image. Ideas for further action that could have financial benefits are likely, so pay attention.

March 18: News today that relates to your career or public image will conflict with home responsibilities or other issues in that part of your life.

March 20: The Sun enters Aries today, bringing emphasis to your 10th House of career and reputation. The realization that relationship issues are part of the problem and need to be resolved are also possible.

March 21: Moving forward in a way that will bring financial reward or at the least better satisfaction and enjoyment from your career is greatly favored today. Those home issues will come up again; don't ignore them.

March 22: Watch for a chance to take the necessary action to improve things at home. You know what I mean.

March 25: Those unresolved relationship issues could cause some trouble publicly.

March 29: Full Moon today as described above.

March 31: Time to fully acknowledge that a change of direction is needed, particularly with regard to your relationships. Look for key insights and inspiration that could come from an outside course yet provide the enlightenment you need. Venus goes into Taurus which will enhance your networking capabilities, interactions with friends and organizations and also provide assistance for defining some new goals.
