Lunations and Long-term Aspects

The Full Moon this month occurs on September 8 in your nextdoor neighbor sign, Pisces. This sign constitutes your 12th house which includes, dreams, visions, spirituality, enlightenment, inspiration, imagination, seclusion, confinement, hidden enemies and self-undoing. Since a Full Moon typically indicates an ending, culmination or shift to a new phase, it is likely that something in this part of your life will fit into that. Neptune is the modern ruler of Pisces and currently there by transit which brings additional energy to this house. This can be an important boost to this part of your life but if there are any hard aspects to natal planets it can manifest delusions or confusion. On the other hand, given the implications of this type of lunation, perhaps it will see the end of a delusion or clarity.

Neptune is opposing Venus, ruler of your 2nd hour of income and finances as well as your 7th house of relationships. This suggest that these could be in the mix as well as your work or health given that Venus is currently placed in Virgo which constitutes your 6th house which includes those items. If you've been delusional about what you value, your income, perhaps by spending more than you should or even the opposite extreme of hoarding every dime for the proverbial rainy day, this could bring a revelation that bring balance.

Uranus remains in Aries and is currently on your natal Sun if your birthday is right around April 5. He's retrograde, so this will be the second pass, perhaps stirring something up that had gone inactive when he first was in that neighborhood around the May - June timeframe. Thank about anything that occurred at that time and see if it once again spring out of the blue demanding attention. This could relate to work as well and be trying to nudge you in a slightly different direction. With the Sun in Virgo extra attention may be placed on this part of your life at this time. If you've been entertaining any misconceptions or ignoring the facts related to your work or health you may no longer be able to sweep it under the rug. There's a significant difference between dreams you aspire to versus delusions and it may be a time to sort out the difference. Saturn, ruler of responsibility, structure and organization, is in cahoots with this lunation to bring about what could be a transformational shift.

Jupiter is in Leo, your 5th house of ego definition, creativity, children, romance, entertainment and speculation which will have an expansive effect which will last for several more months. He, also, is promoting opportunities for change which are likely to affect your status, reputation, public image or career in some way and may be strong enough to be in the "resistance is futile" range based on his quincunx with Pluto in your 10th house which includes these things. There is a strong need for balance which may involve one or more relationship that could impinge upon your natural need for autonomy which is further strengthened by Uranus, the significator for freedom and rebellion. If someone in your life is trying to tie you down this could bring some turmoil which might be behind everything else, whether it's at a personal or business level.

Pluto stations direct on September 22/23 and will do so squaring your natal Sun if your birthday is right around April 1st. This could deliver a strong jolt you'd do well to pay attention to. Pluto rules transformations and is the modern ruler of Scorpio which comprises your 8th house which likewise includes major life-changing events and experiences. That house also relates to death and rebirth, sex, shared resources, debt and things you suppress. That also happens to be where Saturn has been hanging out pushing you toward rebuilding or reorganizing something which could involve breaking free at the personal level from anything that may be holding you back.

The New Moon on September 24 is in your polar sign, Libra, and 7th house of relationships including not only your significant other but business partners, close friends and relatives, business professionals, cliental and competitors. This suggests someone new may be coming into your life or perhaps a change to a different level, such as a friend becoming a bit more in one way or another. With Jupiter in your house of romance, that is a reasonably good possibility, especially for those of you born around April 4.

Your sign ruler, Mars, has gone into Sagittarius, your 9th house of legal matters, long-distance travel, other cultures, higher learning, philosophy of life and relocation which could stir up some activity there, especially with him squaring Neptune in the 12th. As noted earlier, Neptune can be delusional and his more negative manifestations are more likely with a square or opposition. The caution flag this throws would be to not have unrealistic expectations. He may be prompting you to acting if your birthday is right around March 28 so just make sure you don't let your imagination get out of hand. The planets are relatively quiet at this time with minimal interactions amongst themselves though of course they could easily be messing with something in your individual chart.
